FOREIGN HISTORY.

From the Gentleman's Magazine, for October, 1752.

PERSIA.

AS the charms of sovereignty over an abject and and slavish people, have kept up here a tedious dispute, attended with bloodshed, misery and confusion; it is a patriot wish, that one of the parties, no matter which, may soon become triumphant; for the people here fight not for liberty or laws, but for an arbitrary master.

TURKY.

The public repose is in some measure establish'd in this empire. The feast of the grand bairam was celebrated with great tranquility. The eloquence and address of the Aga of of the Janissaries not a little contributed to quell the spirit of that factious corps, together with the distribution of 1200 purses from the Grand Seignior, and 500 from the Grand Vizier, who has given the foreign ministers the utmost assurances, of the Grand Seignior's resolution to live in peace with all the European powers

RUSSIA.

The present empress has lately abolish'd the severe punishment [illegible] knout. A courier arrived from Cazan, brought [illegible] dreadful fire on the 15th had almost totally destroy'd that city, and another fire has also happened at Moscow.

POLAND.

[illegible]es of the several palatinates of this kingdom have b[illegible] with great success, and we are now assur'd that the [illegible] will be held at Grodno in October, from which [illegible] or very salutary effects.

SWEDEN.

[illegible] diet has enacted, that, until the meeting of the [illegible] the subjects of this kingdom, shall pay a free gift, [illegible] now collecting; but this sum is to be employed only [illegible] defence of the country, and their consent is declared to be of no prejudice to their privileges. It is a kind of capitation or poll tax; the wealthy gentry and clergy paying 4 silver crowns each, per An. the inferior 3, or but 2, substantial citizens the like, and the meaner sort 1 or 2; farmers, according to their income, pay from 1 crown to 2 crowns, 16 pence, placemen pay a certain quota of their places, and those who deal in strong liquors are likewise taxed.

GERMANY.

As one means to expedite the election of a king of the Romans, the empress queen has consented to restore to the elector of Bavaria, all the artillery brought from his dominions in the late war: If the elector Palatine can as readily be satisfied; it is expected the elector of Cologne will follow his lead, and then all the great obstacles to the wish'd for election will be removed.

Berlin. Many of the powers of Europe having adopted our discipline in whole or in part, the king has dispatched [illegible] the several places where his troops are quarter'd, [illegible] further alterations therein.

SPAIN.

[illegible]are 38 men of war now building in the ports of this [illegible] D[illegible] 16 of which are to mount 34 guns, 12 of 40, 6 [illegible]d 4 of 70.

[illegible]jesty has augmented the salaries of the English work[illegible]loy'd in his yards, in order to encrease their dili[illegible] And our marine is on so good a footing, that, when [illegible] on the stocks are finish'd, we shall have a fleet of [illegible] great and small.

FRANCE.

[illegible]air of the 20th penny from the clergy, and that of [illegible]ration of the ecclesiastical revenues, will soon be [illegible]gain upon the tapis; the king being resolv'd to put [illegible] them, and that the clergy shall, discharge the du[illegible] are due from them since the year 1749.——Brissard in his time, they annually consumed 45,000,000 of wheat, (each of 600 lb.) 900,000 of oats, 800,000 of barley, 860,000 of pease, 180,000 capons, 500,000 hens, 600,000 partridges, 12,500 oxen, 12,000 weathers, and 7,000,000 eggs.

London, Oct. 30. The parliament which stands prorogued to Tuesday the 31st of October, was further prorogued to Thursday the 11th of January next.

The principal ship builder of the king of Spain, at Ferrol, is Mr. Ruth, formerly a boat builder at Rotherhith He was bred a Papist, and as he was not skill'd in drawing, he decoyed one of the best draughtsmen from Woolwich Yard. He first built two ships of about 60 or 70 guns, which were so approved of, that his Catholic majesty created him a don, and allowed him a pension of 500 l. per annum, sterling, besides considerable perquisites.

Edinburgh, Sept. 29. Was held a general meeting of our whale-fishing company, when it was resolved to purchase a 4th ship to be employed, in that valuable branch of trade next year on the coast of Greenland.

A scheme for enlarging and improving the city of Edinburgh, and for adorning it with public buildings and other useful works, having lately been published, the magistrates and town council, the college of justice, and several persons of rank, having come unanimously to be of opinion, that a proper plan should immediately be drawn out for the improvements proposed to be made, and of the methods for carrying it into execution. With this view committees were chosen by the town council, by the lords of session, the barons of exchequer, the faculties of advocates, and the clerks of the signet. These committees having had several meetings, agreed upon certain proposals: 1. To build upon the ruins on the north side of the high street, an exchange, with proper accommodations for our merchants. 2. To erect upon the ruins in the parliament close, a large building containing such accommodations as are still wanting for the courts of justice, the royal boroughs, and town council, offices for clerks, proper apartments for the several registers, and for the advocates library. 3. To obtain an act of parliament for extending the royalty: to enlarge and beautify the town, by opening new streets to the north and south, removing the markets and shambles, and turning the north Lauch into a canal with walks and terrasses on each side. 4. That the expence of these public works should be defrayed by a national contribution.—The necessity of these alterations they set forth by the increase of their trade and manufactures in the following articles.

The linnen manufacture which has ever been the staple commodity, before the institution of the trustees in the year 1727, was gone almost to nothing. For several years after their institution, its progress was very inconsider[illegible] much that for the first five years, ending Novemb[illegible] the value of the linnen cloth stamped for sale with[illegible] amounted only to 662,983 l. sterling; for the fi[illegible] ing November 1, 1742, it amounted to about 949,[illegible] sterling; but for the five years ending November 1, 1751, it arose to 1,607,680 l.

Since the year 1746, the following public companies have been established for carrying on manufactures, or other branches of trade, which before that time were scarce known in this place, viz. the British linnen company, the rope and sail-cloth manufacture, the iron and carpentry manufacture, the whale-fishing company, the soap work, the gold and silver lace company, the herring fishing company, the glass manufacture, the sugar works. The additional sum employ'd in the trade of this country by these several companies, is very considerable.

As for the increase of the consumption of malt by our distillers, in the 7 years preceding 1745, were distilled in Edinburgh [illegible] English gallons of aquavitæ; but within the 7 years preceding 1752, were distilled 423,250 English gallons.

The

The whole ſhipping in Leith, in the year 1692, amounted only to 1702 tons. In the year 1744 it amounted only to 2285 tons. But the tonnage of the ſhips belonging to Leith for the preſent year 1752, amounts to 5703 tons.
